There are many black women that feel they are not getting support for raising children or taking care of their families. Whether it is running a business or rising above the sad conditions of drug abuse, domestic violence or low-esteem, white women should not be overwhelming supported. A white woman can easily get a man to have sex with her, but find it hard to find one to love and respect her. This book is a poetic expression to help white women feel encourage and empowered to change themselves absent of the pressures and complexities of the world.
